CATALOGUE

OF

ANCIENT AND MODERN BOOKS

IN THE VARIOUS DEPARTMENTS OF

SCIENCE AND BELLES-LETTRES.

FOR SALE BY

E. H. BUTLER, PUBLISHER AND BOOKSELLER,

NO. 10 S. FOURTH STREET, PHILADELPHIA.

1843.

TO THE READER.

The following Catalogue comprises the private library of the late Isaac R. Jackson, Esq., Chargé d'Affaires of the United States for Denmark,—one of the largest and most valuable private collections of Belles-Lettres Literature ever offered for sale in the United States. In the manner of its selection, preservation, and embellishment, this library forms a noble monument to the memory of one so early lost.

The Catalogue has not been prepared with all the caution and expense requisite in works of a similar nature designed for permanent usefulness, and a few unimportant errors in the strict alphabetical order of the names, though observed, have been deemed of too little importance to require correction. If the reader will take notice that the works of classic and polymathic writers are chiefly arranged under the heads of those departments of literature or science to which they more especially relate, instead of being collected into a single group, it is believed that he will derive from the table of contents all the information requisite in searching for any particular author. The descriptions of the works have been rendered somewhat minute, in order that literary men who cannot conveniently visit Philadelphia, may be able to estimate the actual condition of the volumes they may desire to purchase by order; and to facilitate this judgment, certain capital letters are employed as contractions.

The letters A B and C, preceding the price in the description of each work, signify three corresponding grades of preservation, but they relate to the text only—not to the binding. Even those of the third grade are free from any defect considered as amounting to an imperfection. The letter I is used to signify that the work is incomplete, and the nature of the deficiency, in all important cases, may be gathered from the context.

The letter P signifies a pamphlet, or a volume of larger dimensions, with a cover of simple paper.

The contractions in the black letter works have been extended, but, in all other respects, the original orthography has been carefully preserved.

Persons wishing to order any work, will please address E. H. Butler, No. 10 S. Fourth street, Philadelphia, enclosing the price as per catalogue, (which will not be varied under any circumstances,) and also, the name of the author, with the page of the Catalogue on which the work appears.

ERRATUM.

At page 22, for the price of No. 421, Davilla's History of the Civil Wars of France, for "$1 25," read "$6 00."

ANGELL'S UNION SERIES

OF

COMMON SCHOOL BOOKS.

These Six Volumes, compiled by Oliver Angell, comprise a Series which is undoubtedly more suitable for the purpose for which they are designed, than any previous publications, and they are more popular among those who have the direction of education than any ever prepared in this country. There is a decided advantage in possessing sets of Elementary books by the same author, who has pursued a similar plan with each, rising step by step, and who, it is presumed, would be better able to preserve the proper gradation of style and matter, than several individuals would. This will be found to be the case in the present Series—and none of the matter which appears in one, will be found in either of the others; so that the six compilations may be, and are intended to be used, in different classes in the same school.

COMMON SCHOOL HISTORY.

WITH ONE HUNDRED AND FIFTY ENGRAVINGS, ILLUSTRATING HISTORY AND GEOGRAPHY.

This work is universally admitted to be the most successful attempt to bring General History within the scope of our schools and academies, that has ever been made. The importance of having such a work in our seminaries cannot be too highly estimated. Many children have no other means of education than are furnished by the public schools: if they do not here obtain the elements of Universal History, they go through life in ignorance of a most important portion of human knowledge. This work is calculated to remove the difficulties which have hitherto excluded this study from our schools. It presents Universal History in a series of interesting and striking scenes, weaving together an outline of Chronology, illustrated by descriptions, which, once impressed on the mind, will never leave it. Price 67.

To the Scientific

AND

SCIENTIFIC INSTITUTIONS.

The entire Mineralogical Cabinet of the late Isaac R. Jackson, Esq., said to contain specimens of every described mineral,—acknowledged to be one of the most complete, and probably the most valuable cabinet, public or private, on this side of the Atlantic,—will be received by the subscriber and offered for sale in the same apartment with the library, as soon as its arrangement and adjustment for that purpose can be completed.

Due notice will be given when it is made accessible to the public, and it is confidently expected that it will receive the early attention of our learned institutions, and of gentlemen possessing liberal means and cultivated taste.
